Description

Exceptional 19th-Century Grand Tour Patinated Bronze & Marble Classical Temple with Bust Brief Description: Exceptional 19th-Century Grand Tour Patinated Bronze & Marble Classical Temple with Bust This is a truly exceptional 19th-century Grand Tour architectural bronze and marble sculpture of outstanding quality, inspired by the great monuments of classical antiquity. Beautifully modelled in the form of a domed classical temple, the piece is supported by four finely fluted Corinthian columns with gilt-bronze collars and capitals, enclosing an elegant patinated bronze bust of a classical female figure raised upon a pedestal. The restrained use of gilded highlights provides a striking contrast against the rich, deep bronze patina, enhancing its sophisticated Neoclassical appearance. The architectural canopy is surmounted by an impressive ribbed domed roof with an ornamental finial, while the stepped black marble plinth provides both stability and an imposing presentation. The craftsmanship throughout is of the highest order, with crisp casting, finely chased detail and beautifully proportioned classical elements. Produced during the height of the Grand Tour movement, ...
