Description

Antique 20th century Edwardian bureau in oak, a classic and practical piece that showcases the quality craftsmanship of the Edwardian period. Very well made and of good quality, it offers an elegant combination of writing space and storage, making it ideal for both traditional and contemporary interiors. The fall-front opens to reveal a beautifully fitted interior, complete with an arrangement of drawers and pigeonholes designed to keep stationery and documents neatly organised. Below are three spacious drawers, all retaining their original brass handles, while the bureau also comes complete with its original key, adding to its authentic period appeal. Crafted from beautifully figured oak, the timber displays a rich, warm colour with attractive grain throughout, highlighting the quality of the materials used. Its balanced proportions, original fittings and timeless design make it an especially appealing example that is as functional as it is decorative. Presented in good condition, this handsome Edwardian bureau is full of character and charm. Combining practical storage with a beautifully designed writing interior, it would make a superb addition to a study, living room...
