Description

An Edwardian ormolu (gilt brass or bronze) damask lined photo frame c1910. This pleasing photo frame has a finely cast and patterned outer frame, an inner oval ormolu frame with an egg and dart pattern, and four ormolu L shaped garlands with central rosettes at each corner. These features sit on a backing of emerald green damask. The easel back is linen covered and the inner back is lined with gold damask fabric. Most likely this elegant piece was made in France around the end of the 19thc. The style was popular from then on to the 1920s era. It is all in good antique condition.
