Description

V.Large EXHIBITED Oil Portrait Painting By John Opie RA (1761 -1807) for TLC Brief Description: This is a truly magnificent and monumental original early 19th-century Oil on Canvas Portrait depicting Donna Mencia Escaping from the Cavern of the Banditti. Painted by the highly collectable Royal Academy-listed British artist John Opie RA (1761–1807), this exceptional work is a dramatic and theatrical composition that beautifully demonstrates Opie's mastery of portraiture and historical narrative. The elegantly attired Donna Mencia is portrayed at the moment of her daring escape from the bandits' cavern, her expression conveying both determination and apprehension. Richly painted with Opie's characteristic confidence and superb handling of light and shadow, the composition possesses a commanding presence befitting one of Britain's foremost artists of the Georgian period. This remarkable painting benefits from outstanding provenance, having been exhibited at the Harvard Art Museum as part of the prestigious 1930 exhibition: "Eighteenth Century English Painting: In Honour of Professor Chauncey B. Tinker of Yale University." Reference: Fogg Museum, May 5–May 19, 1930. Ex...
