Description

A truly sparkling antique 18ct yellow gold emerald and diamond cluster ring, dating to circa 1900 and radiating timeless elegance. At its centre sits a beautiful square-cut emerald of approximately 0.50ct, surrounded by a halo of eight sparkling old-cut diamonds, with an estimated combined diamond weight of 0.50ct. The diamonds are delicately millegrain set, giving the cluster the wonderfully refined character associated with jewellery of this period. The yellow gold band provides a warm contrast to the white diamond setting and vivid green emerald, creating an elegant and highly wearable antique ring. Professionally cleaned and polished with care in our workshop, this beautiful piece is presented in excellent vintage condition, ready to be worn, loved and admired once more.
