Description

Antique 19th century Victorian heavily carved oak sideboard, an outstanding and highly impressive piece displaying exceptional craftsmanship and remarkable attention to detail throughout. Very well made and of the finest quality, this magnificent sideboard is richly adorned with intricate carving, making it a true statement piece and a rare example of Victorian furniture at its finest. The sideboard is crowned with a beautifully carved raised gallery, enhancing its commanding presence and period character. Below are three generously sized cupboards, each fitted with a single internal shelf, providing excellent concealed storage. Beneath sit two practical drawers, adding further storage while maintaining the symmetry of the design. Raised on sturdy square legs, the piece has a substantial and well-balanced appearance that perfectly complements its elaborate carved decoration. For ease of transport and installation, the sideboard separates neatly into two sections. Every surface showcases beautifully executed carving with an exceptional level of detail, reflecting the skill and artistry of the maker. The oak displays gorgeous natural grain and a rich, warm colour through...
