Description

Antique 19th century pair of Victorian torchère plant stands, a superb and increasingly hard-to-find matching pair that combines elegant proportions with exceptional decorative appeal. Very well made and of fine quality, these handsome stands are ideal for displaying plants, sculptures or decorative objects while adding period character to any interior. Each stand is beautifully decorated with carved rope twist detailing, showcasing the skill and attention to detail of the maker. Raised on elegant cabriole legs, they have a graceful silhouette that reflects the refined styling of the Victorian period. Their well-balanced proportions and matching design make them an especially desirable and versatile pair. The timber displays gorgeous natural grain and a rich, warm colour throughout, beautifully complementing the carved decoration. The combination of the attractive rope twist carving, elegant cabriole legs and quality construction gives these stands tremendous character and makes them a particularly rare find. Presented in good condition, this impressive pair of Victorian torchère stands is both decorative and practical. A rare opportunity to acquire a matching pair of s...
