Description

These charming little 13.5cm Royal Doulton stoneware vases look as if they are straight from the kiln, with not so much as a scratch on them. Although signed by different artists, they are a very well-matched pair. The high-gloss glaze would indicate that they were made in the 1920s/1930s. The vases have the impressed Royal Doulton mark with a crown and lion and the series number 6229. Both signed to their bases, both offered in very good condition. The vase are in mint condition, without chips, cracks, crazing, restoration, scratches, or even firing cracks.
