Description

A stunningly beautiful silver gilt weather station, a barometer, thermometer and clock combined. It was made in London by Edward Stockwell and retailed by Clarks of 20 Bond Street in London. This is sold as a decorative item as we cannot guarantee the workings however it does look great on a wall. Overall it is in great condition for its age, a very few of the high points have lost their original gilding. The workmanship and attention to detail show the exceptionally high quality of this very rare and unusual piece. Weight; 418 grams or 13.5 ozst all in, approximately. Free delivery in the UK. Payment by bank transfer, card over the phone, PayPal or Klarna. Using Klarna payments can be split over three months.
