Description

A good example of an original railway signalling lamp dating from the early to mid 20th Century. It is painted green and has a brass maker's plaque for "A.W.Sanderson & Co (Lamps) Ltd. Birmingham". It is complete with its original oil burner and reflector and it also has its original triple aspect filter with red glass and blue glass. It is in good condition for its age and displays well. The glass is undamaged and it is generally clean and tidy. There is some minor corrosion, wear to the paint and some surface knocks and marks but it displays very nicely. The lamp is untested but I see no reason why the burner wouldn't work. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
