Item Reference: SA1228718

Date of manufacture: 17th Century

Description

A really interesting 17th century Delft charger with an unusual animal in centre which I think this is a hare. This piece still rings when tapped indicating no cracks. It has one small chip in the front which appears to be a firing chip. Similarly, the chipping on the middle rim on the reverse has always been there as it is glazed over. This is a rare survivor for such a large charger. Measurements: 34 cm wide. For more photos or a more detailed condition report on any of these pieces please contact us any time.
