Description

A good quality oak lowboy dating from the late 18th century. The overhanging top has a moulded edge and it stands on cabriole legs terminating in pad feet. It has an arrangement of three drawers above a shaped frieze and each drawer has a brass plate handle. It is in good original condition with a beautiful rich patina. There are some signs of age and use, a few minor marks and knocks here and there and a couple of old repairs but nothing untoward and the table is strong and sturdy. There are signs of historic worm in places which has all been treated as a precaution and hasn't affected the table structurally or aesthetically. It has been gently cleaned and polished and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
