Description

Antique 20th century set of four barley twist dining chairs in oak, a handsome and well-crafted set that combines traditional styling with excellent comfort and quality. Very well made and of good quality, these attractive chairs are full of character and would make a wonderful addition to both period and country-style interiors. Each chair features a beautifully carved top rail with fine attention to detail, adding an elegant decorative touch. The removable drop-in seats are upholstered in an attractive pink and white fabric, offering both comfort and practicality, allowing for easy reupholstery if desired. The chairs are raised on classic barley twist front legs with supporting stretchers, creating a sturdy and well-balanced design that reflects traditional craftsmanship. The oak displays gorgeous natural grain and a rich, warm colour throughout, enhancing the character of the set. All four chairs have solid frames with no unwanted movement or breaks, demonstrating their quality construction and ensuring they are ready for everyday use. Presented in good condition, this very desirable set of dining chairs offers a superb combination of style, comfort and durability. ...
