Description

An exceptional and unusually large antique Victorian satinwood marquetry, ormolu mounted and porcelain inset credenza or sideboard of magnificent proportions and outstanding cabinetmaking quality. Measuring an impressive 252 cm (8 ft 3 in) in width, this remarkable statement piece is considerably larger than the majority of credenzas of the period and was clearly conceived for an important interior. The scale, quality of materials and extraordinary level of decorative detail make it a particularly striking example. The beautifully figured satinwood shaped top is richly decorated with contrasting marquetry and crossbanding, above an ormolu mounted frieze with finely cast classical ornament. The central section is fitted with a pair of glazed doors opening to reveal a mirrored interior with fitted shelves edged in ormolu, creating an elegant display area for porcelain, glass or silver. To either side are beautifully inlaid cupboard doors decorated with delicate ribbon and bow marquetry and centred by superb oval hand-painted porcelain plaques depicting colourful floral bouquets. The porcelain panels are framed by finely cast ormolu mounts and provide a wonderful contrast ag...
