Description

A fine quality 19th century (circa 1830) French mahogany Gueridon table with original black and white veined marble top, possibly Gris Sainte Anne. This table consists of an original marble top of black and white veined marble, possibly Gris Sainte Anne, with a moulded outer edge supported by a figured mahogany frieze and moulded edge below. This leads down to a turned and finely carved baluster column with gadroon carved decoration supported by a tri-form base finely carved in the typical French Empire style consisting of three superbly carved legs with foliate carved decoration, terminating with carved paw feet and brass castors. This table and marble top are in excellent condition for age, are of stable construction and can go straight into a home. Size: Height: 29" / 73.5cm Width: 35" / 89cm Depth: 35" / 89cm
