Description

An elegant and beautifully figured nest of three burr walnut occasional tables dating from the 1920s, showcasing the rich grain and warm golden tones that make burr walnut one of the most sought-after cabinet woods. The set comprises three graduating tables, each with attractively shaped serpentine gallery tops and standing on slender cabriole legs terminating in pad feet. The tables nest neatly together when not in use, making them both decorative and highly practical for everyday living. The tops display particularly striking burr walnut veneers with wonderful swirling grain patterns and natural figuring, framed by moulded walnut edges that complement the flowing outline. Their graceful proportions make them ideal as lamp tables, occasional tables or for serving drinks when entertaining. Presented in very good antique condition with a lovely mellow colour and patina, displaying only the light age-related wear expected from furniture of this period. The tables are sturdy, well constructed and ready for use.
