Description

Antique 19th century Victorian writing table in mahogany, a charming and practical piece that reflects the understated elegance of Victorian furniture. Well made and of good quality, it offers a generous working surface while retaining the character and craftsmanship expected of the period. A large raised gallery surrounds the rear and sides of the top, adding both visual appeal and practicality by helping to keep books, stationery and decorative items securely in place. Beneath are two useful central drawers, each retaining its original mahogany knob handle, providing convenient storage for writing essentials. The table is supported by elegantly turned legs, giving it a graceful and well-balanced appearance. Crafted from mahogany, the timber displays gorgeous natural grain and a rich, warm colour throughout. Its clean lines, attractive proportions and solid construction make it a versatile piece that would sit equally well in a study, library, hallway or living room. Presented in good condition, this desirable Victorian writing table is a fine example of 19th century craftsmanship. Combining timeless style with everyday practicality, it would make a wonderful addition to...
