Description

Karaja rugs are known for their bright Heriz like colours and this pair shows the typical Karaja design of three medallions on a deep blue ground surrounded by a scattering of floral motifs that fill every available space. There are many poorer examples out there with the main factor being quality of colour. These have wonderful tones with the sublime light blue balancing the rich red and contrasting with the inky blue field. On one the blue switches to green in the middle of a medallion, a pleasing variation to the theme. They are not finely woven but they make up for this with their beautiful palette. For me they make any room you place them in with their balanced look and happy countenance. Good condition.
