Description

Antique 19th century Victorian bookcase in mahogany, an impressive and beautifully proportioned piece displaying exceptional quality and craftsmanship throughout. Very well made and of the finest quality, this substantial bookcase offers an elegant combination of display and storage, making it a magnificent addition to a study, library, dining room or living space. The upper section features a beautifully glazed bookcase fitted with two adjustable shelves, providing flexible display space for books, china or treasured collectibles. Below sits a striking bevelled mirror above two useful drawers, each offering convenient storage for smaller items. The lower section incorporates a spacious double-door cupboard enclosing a single internal shelf, providing ample concealed storage while maintaining the cabinet's balanced proportions. Raised on a sturdy plinth base, the bookcase has a commanding yet elegant presence and separates into two sections for ease of transport and installation. Beautiful carved decoration throughout reflects the high level of attention to detail invested in its design, enhancing the rich character of the piece without overwhelming its classic Victorian...
