Description

Early Georgian, probably George 1st / 2nd red walnut adjustable candlestand in pretty decent condition. Typical early design base with squat cabriole legs. Square column with internal ratchet mechanism for adjusting the height including the original brass fittings. The top is dished with original bearers and block underneath. There are a couple of very minor old repairs and the square internal stem needs to be re-glued to the block as it is a bit loose (this can be done here if required). The table is a nice colour with waxed finish. You don't see these early adjustable candlestands very often now. SIZE; 17" diameter top. Height when fully closed is 26". Can adjust to approx. 40" in height. CIRCA; 1730 - 1740

Internal Ref: 7344
