Description

P0126 An exceptional 19th-century Victorian copper and brass vessel of grand and impressive proportions. This striking antique jardinière features a beautifully tapered copper body accented by a polished brass collar. It is flanked by a pair of substantial, intricately cast brass handles displaying highly unusual stylized bat or dragon wing motifs. The mixed-metal contrast between the warm copper and bright brass gives this piece immense architectural presence and decorator appeal. Highly versatile, this statement vessel is perfectly suited for large interior plant arrangements, as a sophisticated log holder, or as a fireside kindling bucket. It has been meticulously cleaned and hand-polished, arriving in home-ready condition while beautifully preserving its authentic historic character. c1860 Please send your address; we may be able to facilitate a low cost shipping.
