Description

Large Late 19th-Century Chinese High-Relief Copper-Alloy Baluster Vase, Depicting Daoist Immortals with Twin-Dragon Xuande Base Mark, 41cm, 5.30kg

Imposing Scale & Presence: Standing at an impressive 41 cm in height and carrying a substantial, heavy-duty weight of 5.30 kg, this statement piece commands attention and delivers immense visual drama for any gallery or interior setting.

Masterful High-Relief Imagery: The body is meticulously cast and hand-chased with a dynamic procession of Daoist immortals, each figure rendered with intricate facial expressions, flowing robes, and individualized attributes amidst swirling celestial cloud motifs.

Refined Accoutrements: The upper neck is framed by elegantly curved prunus-form loop handles and stylized floral bands, showcasing the meticulous artisanal ambition characteristic of high-end late Qing export metalwork.

The Exceptional Base Mark: The underside reveals a deeply cast, highly detailed apocryphal six-character Xuande reign mark (Da Ming Xuande Nian Zhi), dramatically framed by a powerful, high-relief border of twin dragons chasing the flaming pearl.

Materiality & Finish: Cast in a high-grade copper-alloy (frequently ...
