Description

A beautiful and refined example of Edwardian jewellery, this antique pendant necklace is crafted in 9ct yellow gold and dates to circa 1910. The piece is elegantly designed in a delicate openwork, trefoil style form, typical of the period. At the heart of the design is a captivating 1.50ct oval cut faceted amethyst, glowing with a soft purple tone that shimmers in the light. It is framed by delicate seed pearls, which trace the elegant curves of the pendant and form subtle floral accents. The pendant is suspended from a 17-inch (44cm) fine gold chain, making it ready to wear. Its balanced proportions and feminine design make it ideal for both everyday elegance and special occasions. Metal: 9ct Yellow Gold (stamped 9CT) Gemstone: 1.50ct oval faceted amethyst with seed pearls Date: Circa 1910 (Edwardian) Weight: 4.8 grams Measurements: 26mm width Chain Length: 17 inches / 44cm Condition: Excellent antique condition A timeless antique piece, full of period charm and delicate craftsmanship.
