Description

A beautiful antique cross pendant dating to the Edwardian era, crafted in warm 9ct yellow gold. Dating to 1905, the cross has a wonderfully simple, traditional design with a substantial profile and clean lines. More than 120 years old, it is a timeless piece of antique jewellery that can be worn and treasured today. The pendant is fully hallmarked, including the Birmingham assay mark for 1905 and the maker's mark M.W&S for Matthew Wilcox & Son, adding to its period character and provenance. Professionally cleaned and lightly polished with care at our Stockport store, preserving the character expected of an original Edwardian piece. It remains in excellent antique condition and is ready to be loved once more. A meaningful gift, an elegant everyday pendant, or a wonderful addition to an antique jewellery collection..
