Description

This exquisite antique ring is a true symbol of timeless elegance. Crafted in 18ct yellow gold, it features three old-cut round diamonds with a combined weight of approximately 0.65ct. Each diamond is bezel set in a classic trilogy design, representing the past, present, and future — making it a meaningful choice for an engagement ring or an heirloom piece. The knife-edge shoulders add a delicate touch of refinement, enhancing the brilliance of the stones while keeping the focus on their sparkle. Dating back to around 1900, this ring beautifully captures the craftsmanship and romance of the Edwardian era. Professionally cleaned and polished in our workshop, it is presented in excellent antique condition, ready to be worn and treasured once again.
