Date of manufacture: 19th Century

Description

A very pretty pair of 19th Century French grey painted and parcel gilt fauteuil in Louis XV style, with floral Aubusson tapestry upholstery, sprung seats and raised on cabriole legs. In good structural condition, the paintwork and gilding is original and nicely worn. The tapestry upholstery is also original with the back panels being in good condition and the seats are worn. The silk fabric to the reverse of one of the back panels is badly damaged but I can get this repaired by my upholsterer. The chairs are very useable for someone who likes this aesthetic, however I can arrange re-covering (or just recovering of the seats) if preferred and can also supply fabric. Please get in touch for further details. 89cm high, 59cm wide max, the seats 48cm deep and 42cm high.
