Description

Vittorio Reggianini (Italian, 1858-1939) Vittorio Reggianini was a 19th-century Italian genre painter specializing in scenes of bourgeois life. Born in Modena, Italy in 1858, Reggianini was part of a group of artists called the "Costume Painters," who sought to revive the sophistication of the past by painting a romanticized version of the culture during a time of great military conflict. He skillfully painted contemporary fashion and opulence, especially focused on painting the silks and satins of dresses and floor and wall coverings. He studied and later taught at the Accademia di Belle Arti in Modena, Italy. The artist died in 1938. Original Oil Painting on Canvas, framed. 33 x 26cm (13 x 10 1/4in). A very nice original early 20th century painting by the well listed Italian artist, Vittorio Reggianini 1858-1939. The painting depicts a beautiful young girl holding a small kitten. Signed to the upper right corner. Condition: The painting has been relined to a high standard, in very good condition overall. Presented in a decent carved gilt frame.
