Description

A stunning and highly distinctive matched jewellery suite from the 1960s, consisting of a substantial silver bracelet and a matching cluster ring. Both pieces showcase the rare beauty of authentic, peacock colored iridescent Biwa pearls. The striking bracelet features large, uniquely shaped Biwa pearls displaying a magnificent peacock lustre, elegantly contrasted by small, round freshwater pearls. The piece secures with an ornate T-bar toggle clasp featuring applied filigree work and set with two additional freshwater pearls. The T-bar can be inserted into either of the two decorative silver rings, providing convenient size adjustment. The matching silver ring mirrors this dramatic design with a large peacock Biwa pearl accompanied by two freshwater pearls—one of which is a rare black variant. The cluster is beautifully anchored by a large, luminous moonstone that catches the light wonderfully. Mirroring the thoughtful engineering of the era, the ring's shank was originally crafted with an adjustable, bypass design, allowing it to be resized comfortably. The ring is stamped 925 for Sterling silver. The bracelet is unmarked but has been fully tested and verified as silver...
