Description

Antique 18th century Georgian writing table in mahogany, a beautifully proportioned piece that perfectly captures the understated elegance of Georgian furniture. Well made and of good quality, this handsome writing table combines refined styling with everyday practicality, making it an ideal addition to a study, library or living room. The table is fitted with a single drawer to the front, retaining its original brass handles and providing convenient storage for stationery, documents or other everyday essentials. Raised on elegant tapered legs, it has the graceful proportions and clean lines that are characteristic of the Georgian period, giving the piece a timeless and sophisticated appearance. The mahogany displays gorgeous natural grain and a rich, warm colour throughout, enhancing the simple yet elegant design. Its balanced proportions, attractive timber and quality construction make this a particularly desirable example that will complement both period and contemporary interiors. Presented in good condition, this attractive Georgian writing table is both decorative and highly functional. A fine example of 18th century furniture with enduring appeal, it would make ...
