Description

A decorative set of four Victorian ebonised and gilt dining chairs dating to circa 1880, with elegant spindle backs, shaped top rails and finely turned tapering legs. The chairs have an attractive architectural form, with gently shaped top rails decorated with gilt highlights and carved detailing. The backs feature slender turned spindles, while the uprights are finished with small carved finials and further gilt decoration. The ebonised finish contrasts particularly well with the aged gilt highlights, which have developed a lovely mellow appearance. Each chair has a generously upholstered seat, currently covered in a warm terracotta patterned fabric. The upholstery is serviceable but shows signs of age and use, and the chairs would also provide an excellent opportunity to introduce a fabric to suit a particular interior. We are able to offer a professional reupholstery service at a very reasonable cost. Customers are welcome to select a fabric from our extensive supplier ranges or provide a fabric of their own choice. We can also offer AquaClean fabrics, an excellent practical option for dining chairs. AquaClean technology incorporates a specialist treatment into the fab...
