Description

An exceptionally decorative antique French Louis XVI Revival three-piece bedroom suite dating from circa 1900, comprising a large mirrored wardrobe, matching double bed and bedside pot cupboard, all conceived as a unified suite and richly embellished with parquetry veneers and gilt-metal mounts. The impressive wardrobe is dominated by two full-length mirrored doors beneath a sweeping architectural cornice, crowned by a finely modelled gilt-metal floral wreath and ribbon crest. Further gilt mounts, floral paterae and delicate ribbon-tied details punctuate the façade, while the warm mahogany-toned veneers are arranged in carefully matched geometric patterns. Internally, the wardrobe provides generous storage with shelving, drawers and open hanging space. The matching bed is equally imposing. Its tall headboard and substantial footboard feature beautifully arranged geometric veneer work framed by moulded borders, with a central gilt-bronze swag and pendant mount creating a particularly elegant focal point. The shaped crest echoes the wardrobe, visually tying the suite together. Completing the set is the matching bedside cupboard, raised on turned supports above a useful u...
