Description

Antique 20th century pair of bedside cabinets in mahogany, an elegant and beautifully detailed matching pair with a refined traditional appearance. Well made and of good quality, their attractive proportions make them ideal for positioning on either side of a bed. Each cabinet features a useful drawer fitted with decorative brass handles, with a lower shelf providing additional space for books or other bedside essentials. Beautifully turned legs fitted with castors complete the design, adding character while allowing the pieces to be moved with ease. Decorative crossbanding can be seen across the tops and lower shelves, providing an attractive contrast against the rich mahogany. Gorgeous grain and colour run throughout, further enhancing the warmth and character of the pair. In good condition and very desirable, these lovely bedside cabinets offer a wonderful combination of elegance, practicality and traditional charm.
