Description

A good quality and very decorative pair of Dutch style still life oil on board paintings dating from the early 20th Century. They depict large beautiful bouquets of flowers and they are framed in good quality carved gilt frames with oval inserts. Both are signed "L.Prost". They are in good original condition. There are some minor signs of age and some light surface marks but nothing detrimental. There are some small knocks and minor losses around the frames but overall they display well. The paintings have been lightly cleaned and are ready to hang. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
