Description

19th Century Glass Top Copper Lantern, Street Light This is a Large Copper Street Light Lantern, originally it would have been lit by gas, it has glazed sides and most unusually the top is also glazed, this may be because it was previously in a very dark area like a tunnel, the lamp sits on a circular iron fitting bracket This is a superb large piece, the copper is beautifully weathered and has a beautiful colouring The Lantern is 18" across and 30" high, PM173.
