Description

A lovely Victorian tabletop correspondence box dating from the late 19th Century. It is made of mahogany with unusual gothic style cut outs and carvings backed by blue glass. It has two letter slots on the top beside brass labels "Unanswered" and "Answered". The interior is divided into two sections to correspond with the different slots. It is in good condition and displays well. There are a few small knocks and marks around the outside and general signs of age and light use but nothing detrimental. The box has been cleaned and gently polished and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
