Description

A charming set of six Georgian mahogany dining chairs, comprising five side chairs and one carver, of elegant and understated form. The chairs are raised upon square tapered legs united by H-frame stretchers, providing a strong and practical construction. The backs feature a deep shaped top rail and slender lower rail, both enhanced with finely executed reeded decoration, which is continued to the uprights and adds a subtle refinement to their otherwise restrained design. The carver is particularly attractive, featuring shaped reeded arms supported by elegant turned columns. All six chairs retain their lift-out seats, making them both practical and versatile for future reupholstery. The rich mahogany has developed a wonderful warm patina, giving the chairs considerable character and an authentic antique appearance. Presented in good condition.
