Description

Late 19th Century French Provincial Walnut Dresser with Marble Top A particularly impressive late 19th century French Provincial walnut dresser, of grand proportions and displaying an exceptional amount of finely carved detail. The substantial upper section is surmounted by an architectural carved crest and fitted with three cupboards. The central door is especially striking, deeply carved with a hunting scene depicting game and a hound, surrounded by scrolling foliage and flanked by turned and carved columns. To either side are glazed cupboard doors opening to useful shelved interiors. Below is an open serving area supported by turned columns, incorporating a small central mirror and decorative spindle gallery. The dresser is further enhanced by a handsome green marble serving top, which contrasts beautifully with the rich, warm tones of the walnut. The base provides excellent storage, with two drawers over a pair of panelled cupboard doors, both doors richly carved with scrolling foliate decoration. Original-style brass handles, turned side columns and a substantial moulded plinth complete this highly decorative piece. Dating to circa 1880-1900, this is a wonderful...
