Description

C.17th Dutch Old Master Oil Portrait Painting Prince Of Orange Maurice of Nassau Brief Description: This is an exceptional quality original Dutch Old Master Oil on Canvas Portrait Painting depicting Maurice of Nassau, Prince of Orange (1567–1625). Painted during the late 17th or early 18th century by a talented follower of the renowned Dutch Baroque portraitist Michiel Jansz. van Mierevelt (1566–1641), the distinguished bust-length portrait depicts the Prince wearing full ceremonial armour, a beautifully rendered white pleated linen ruff, and the unmistakable orange sash draped across his shoulder, symbolising the illustrious House of Orange. Executed with remarkable attention to detail, the portrait displays the refined brushwork and restrained elegance associated with the Dutch Golden Age of portrait painting. The painting underwent a comprehensive professional restoration during the 20th century and is now presented in excellent display condition. It is housed within a superb later gilt cushion-moulded frame, which complements the work beautifully. The reverse retains several early gallery labels attached to the stretcher, providing further interest and evidence...
