Description

Large Original 18th Century Oil Portrait of Rev. Paul White (1726–1779) Brief Description: This is a large, superb and all-original 18th-century Oil on Canvas Portrait Painting depicting the distinguished clergyman and Vicar of Kinver, Reverend Paul White (1726–1779). The wonderfully lifelike portrait portrays the Reverend White seated in a dignified and contemplative pose, wearing a finely rendered powdered white clerical wig together with traditional 18th-century Anglican liturgical attire, including crisp white linen preaching bands and a flowing black clerical robe. Painted during the Georgian period, the work is executed in the style and manner of Thomas Hudson (1701–1779), one of Britain's foremost portrait painters of the 18th century and an artist whose elegant portraiture defined much of the era. The painting displays the same restrained composition, refined facial modelling and commanding presence so characteristic of Hudson's celebrated works. The portrait is housed within its huge, original and spectacular quality giltwood and gesso frame, richly moulded and beautifully preserving the grandeur expected of an important Georgian portrait. Together, the pain...
