Description

A large and elegant French antique pine wardrobe dating from circa 1900. Tall and well proportioned, it has an attractive cornice with a flat top that may provide extra storage where ceiling height allows. Panelled sides echo the two panelled doors, and the wardrobe stands on bracket feet. Originally painted, it has since been stripped and is now in bare wood, ready for waxing or another finish. The spacious interior has generous height, a shelf with adjustable supports, and flexible hanging arrangements. Two rails can be fitted, or the shelf can sit higher with a hanging rail below. The 19-inch internal depth comfortably accommodates coats and suits. A hanging rail is included, and the shelf can be included at no extra cost if required. The original door catch adds character. It is in great condition for its age. The current-condition price is £1,000; fully restored and waxed it is £1,150. The wardrobe dismantles completely, including a two-part back panel, making delivery through most staircases and doorways easier. Personal delivery and assembly are available; please provide your postcode for a quote.
