SoldItem Reference: SA123352*Date of manufacture: 17th Century

Description

Jacobean Oak Double Bed, this a very old piece, the two bed ends are original but the side rails are replacements. The Bed ends, Head and Foot have three carved panels, they have reeded carving similar to a linen fold but more primitive, the side columns on the bed head have more shaped primitive carvings and a rather unusual feature are the two sliding door cupboards at the very top, (candle boxes I should think). This is a very heavy piece indeed and though it comes into 4 pieces for transportation it is very difficult to manoeuvre. I have shown the bed with a 5ft base and mattress these are not included in the sale. The bed head is 66" high and 58" wide, the foot of the bed is 36" high the internal length is 82".
