Description

Burton of London, circa 1815 - Regency bracket clock in fully restored condition. A very good Regency mahogany bracket clock, by Burton of London. The fine quality twin fusee, 8 day, movement with original anchor escapement striking the hours on a single bell, with strike/strike silent facility and pull repeat mechanism. The case of break arch form, with circular painted convex dial, with roman numerals to the circumference, signed Burton, London to the dial centre. Original cast brass fish scale fretwork to the sides and cast brass bezel. The rear having an arched glazed door revealing the elegantly peripherally engraved movement. The extremely well figured mahogany case with a break arch, brass bound single pad top, with carrying handle. Fine quality brass inlay to the case front. The clock stands on brass bun feet. A fine quality well proportioned clock, with wonderfully figured mahogany case and original colour and patina. Dimensions: 17" Tall, 11" Wide, 6" Deep.
