Description

Here we have for sale a VERY FINE Georgian London made large size bow-fronted / serpentine fronted wardrobe. Beautiful mahogany flame veneered panels throughout with boxwood line inlays. The wardrobe breaks down into 5 sections for moving and once in place is screwed together. Centre section is in two parts, the bottom part with three long drawers with boxwood and ebony line inlay. The drawers are all OAK lined. Top section has all its original trays inside also with boxwood line inlay and also all OAK lined. The tall sections at either side have full hanging space now with later 1900's patented pull out hanging bar made by John Watts of Sheffield with patent No. 3470/09. Very nice design cornice which is in one peice which can also be screwed into place also displaying boxwood line inlay. The whole piece is a lovely colour and is basically in very good condition. The only exception to this being the brasses which are later around 1900's replacements, looks like it would have had brass knobs originally on the base drawers and no knobs to the top, just opened with the key. The piece is stamped throught with F. BEST MAKER 64A SOUTH AUDLEY STREET & 188 SLOAN STREET LONDO...
