Description

Dutch 1864 hallmarked solid silver .833 fine 19th century sardine fork with lovely shaped stem and an engraved foliate and scroll design to both stem and tines. The tine end of the fork has a curved almost bowl shape, with the tines curving slightly out, having sharp ends. Fully hallmarked including maker's mark AK. Originally for sardines, it is also great for serving meat or cheese, seafood or pickles. Size-5.5 inches long by 1 1/8 inches wide. Weight-15 grams. A lovely fork to use or to give as a gift for those who love to eat or serve sardines or any of the other foods listed. Although one photo shows two forks, this listing and pricing is for one fork only. It will be the talking point of the bar or dining table. Sardine items are most desired and collectable. In very good condition.
