SoldItem Reference: SA152955*Date of manufacture: 1750

Description

A heavy oak refectory table in oak standing on baluster turned legs united by stretchers. The frieze is carved to the front and sides only which suggests this table was always meant to stand against the wall. The table is of good colour and patination but shows signs of old repairs. It is in good condition with no loose joints. circa 18th century. Length, 198cms width, 80cms height, 78cms.
