Antique English Fern Engraved Biscuit Box - Tortoise Shell & Sterling Lid

Price

SoldItem Reference: SA154022*Date of manufacture: 1890

Description

A wonderfully handsome biscuit box or server (more of a server because of course it is not airtight), it would look wonderful with chocolates, candy or nuts filling it. Equally, it would make a wonderful bathroom or dressing table jar, the perfect size for perhaps cotton balls. The glass is perfect, with a cut decorated rim and a lip where the lid sits. The entire outside is decorated with acid etched Ferns, very Victorian and very English. The lid is made from an antique piece of Tortoiseshell with a sterling silver (unmarked) knob to remove, and surrounded by pretty silver pique garland tied with a ribbon and bow. Dating to around 1890, late Victorian in era, it remains in excellent condition, the base diameter measuring 4 3/4"; 4 3/4" to top of glass and 5 3/4" tall to top of lid finial.
