Description

Philip Strobel & Sons New York - Original - c1895 Philip Strobel of New York established business in 1852 and began making furniture for the burgeoning cafe and restaurants sector and for those seeking quality home dining furniture too. An original Strobel design book can be found at this link: <http://www.archive.org/stream/diningroomcaff00phil#page/n7/mode/2up> Included within the design book is a circular version of the table listed here <http://www.archive.org/stream/diningroomcaff00phil#page/54/mode/2up> This mahogany Cafe Dining Table is beautiful example with a gorgeous design presented in superb condition. A quartet of cast iron legs with turned-toe and wonderful detailing support a wonderfully turned and fluted centre column. The column is in a rich dark mahogany and the combination of quality timber and cast iron together make the base a very solid support for the square top. The legs benefit from original casting holes where the table would have been bolted to the floor of the premises. The table displays excellently with a rich colour to the top which is presented in lovely antique order. This piece will make a wonderful addition to any location and i...
