George III Mahogany Serpentine Chest of drawers

Price

SoldItem Reference: SA157191*Date of manufacture: 1800

Description

This fine quality late 18th Century George III mahogany serpentine chest of drawers has a beautiful solid mahogany S shaped top with a reeded edge above a set of four serpentine and graduated oak lined drawers. Each drawer having a fine inset boxwood inlay and brass oval plated handles with brass locks and escutcheons. This Georgian chest has the very desirable and rare clusters columns to each side which give it a very unique look whilst standing on its original turned feet. The mahogany used to construct this chest over 200 years ago was of the best quality which has mellowed over the years to give a fantastic colour and feel with a great patina which has led this chest to be one of the most sought after items in the antiques business. This George III chest has been carefully restored by using traditional methods and will happily grace any home.
