Description

A wonderful and most unusual desk accessory dating to around 1900, late Victorian or Edwardian. A good impressive size, the brass inkstand has a front panel with a perpetual calendar the days being advanced by the use of the two levers each side, in fully working order. The month cards, made from a bone or Ivory celluloid material, are printed both sides (six cards) with the months of the year, a few a little worn, for instance "March" has been hand -inked to revive at some point. The inkstand and calendar are fitted around the glass inkwell, a good hefty piece of glass was used and even cut on the underside before assembly. Cast into the base is a deep channel acting as a pen rest for one's dip pen. Excellent condition (a tiny dimple to the domed lid - mentioned purely for accuracy). The footprint measures 4" x 4 3/4" x 3 3/4" tall. Item ID: 34064 FREE Worldwide Registered Airmail Directly From London, England
