Description

A charming and most unusual large double compartment tea caddy, made in silver plate and dating to the late Victorian era, around 1890. The beautifully shaped caddy has intricate and very pretty engraving to the side panels, with foliate garlands tied with ribbon and bows. The front retains its original engraved intertwined monogram. Once the lid is opened the fitted interior is revealed with twin compartments; the box has a lock, but alas no key. The box stands on four very ornate winged paw feet.
